Hope Picked to Best Spa; Hogs
to Take Baylor

LITTLE ROCK (U)—Whether it's an undying confidence that the Razorbacks really have it or just an effort to lure the fans, this state's football forecasters again this week are picking the University of Arkansas to win a game.

Seven of the 11 sports writers and sportscasters who made selections in this week's Associated Press poll predicted that the Razorbacks would topple Baylor at Little Rock Saturday night.

While they missed on Arkansas, two times in a row, the forecasters had their greatest overall success of the season last week. Baylor beat the Bears 21-14, the outcome of 38 games and missed only one of 100.

And the prognosticators were right just on that week's high school games, picking 21 of 24.

So far with a great deal more authority that they forecast this "week's" game.

The opinion on the No. 1 high school encounter—the Chicago Bears and the New York Giants—was split.

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (U)—The most common criminal in America today is neither the burglar, the bandit nor the shady opium salesman.

No law really protects the public against him. He operates with a scotch tongue instead of a gun. He rarely is strong from a galloway like some thief he deserves, and every year he walks away free with millions.

Oh, yes you did. If you do in, expect your books right now, the chances are that you'll find a book that says "stolen from the library."

And the name written therein won't be your own. "But I didn't really steal it," you may say. "I only borrowed it."

Maybe. But you probably have shed it for years. You are holding this valuable property against the real owner's will of course you want it back long ago—and it isn't there. Why is it? He could go to court about it, but among book lovers there is a tolerant recognition of human frailty and a general understanding of the policy. And of course each knows the other fellow may break down and give up the book without borrowing money.

The true professional thief is a scoundrel who steals precious volumes only to barter these priceless products of the human spirit for filthy cash. He is beneath the contempt of murderers, and stands alone in the very worst of crime.

There is also the occasional kleptomaniac who has such a compulsion to take what doesn't belong to him that he will rent a hotel room just for a chance to lift a Gibson Bible.

Most of America's million of book thieves are happy amateurs, and are not to be known as "long-term borrowers." And this latter term is often used by for giving libraries who know how hard it is for some patrons to bring back a book they are having a long love affair with.

"We never say they are stealing," said a lady spokesman for the New York Public Library. "We only say they forgot to return them."

"Sometimes they come back 25 years late."

Sometimes also they are mailed back by the widows of the men who checked them out, and before "for weeks," then held them until dead.

The volumes that are most likely to vanish mysteriously from open library shelves are the "how-to-succeed" books, such as "How to Become a Detective." One with that title doesn't have a chance.

But the ordinary book power like you and me, who must for each other's collections, actually served a useful purpose. A book is a clover leaf. We enrich our own store of books by "borrowing" back and forth, giving it a variety of other wise lack.

I doubt if I have read any of the scores of books I bought myself in the last ten years. They never stay in my house long enough. But I never fail to read a book I "borrow" and I am honest enough to say I never borrow one with the real intention of not turning it in.

But my private library is an open shelf of other people's books. I'll match it against any man's, and the odds are it will be at least one book that belongs to him.

Nether was Cherry's manager, Lyle Gentry of Little Rock, but he declined to say whether he was out of the book. The two, William B. Bowen and Baron Lange of Little Rock, brought along the Cherry campaign, recalled.

This is the second investigation into the book's disappearance. The first was in 1951, when a jury found Judge Gus Fulk discharged.

The proposed state changes, including setting up a presidential commission to investigate the book's disappearance, were announced Aug. 2. Details of the five-year plan were announced at the same time.

In approving the economic program, the Congress set up a committee to consider changes recommended by delegates during the debate.

Henry Woods
Telling Jury
About Finances

LITTLE ROCK (U)—Henry Woods refused to tell the Highway Audit Commission about the financial status of his firm, and the responsibilities of today's voters in maintaining that heritage. He cited the Pulaski County Grand Jury report that he had made.

Woods, McMath's executive secretary and manager of each of McMath's three campaigns for governorship, was the first witness called at the Grand Jury hearing.

Woods was one of six managers of gubernatorial candidates in the Democratic primaries in 1950 and 1952 which the Grand Jury summoned to testify about their campaign financing.

All were told to bring campaign financial records with them.

The jury said the records were needed to substantiate findings of the Grand Jury report. The jury said it was convinced many of the irregularities reported by the Grand Jury were the result of the high cost of running for governor.

Woods, who was carrying a bulging red brief case as he entered the courtroom, declined to answer the questions of the jury.

He had experienced complete lack of fertility during periods ranging from three to 10 months while taking the pills at breakfast, lunch and dinner—and that some are taking them.

But the Boston researcher emphasized that the drug—previously known as "the pill"—does not produce permanent sterility. He said 220 of the women have had a baby or have become pregnant after they and their husbands quit taking the pills.

Dr. Francis J. Cornell, a Redemptorist priest and dean of the St. Francis Hospital, was asked to comment on the report. He declared any use of preventing conception would be a violation of the Divine Law as it affects birth.

He warned that a Republic's fertility in November might be cut by a third if the pill is used.

Stevenson said that the nation's fertility is being cut by a third if the pill is used.

At the least sign of weakness the Kremlin can change its signals again.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (U)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson said today that the 1951 Communist Party Congress in Moscow had worked to secure the United States and the Soviet Union in a "cold war."

Chief Justice
Speaker at
B&PW Dinner

Members of the Hope Business and Professional Women's Club last night entertained their guests at an annual banquet at Hotel Barlow. About 30 persons were present.

Principal speaker was Griffin Smith, Chief Justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court, who discussed the heritage of Americans and the responsibilities of today's voters in maintaining that heritage. He cited the Pulaski County Grand Jury report that he had made.

Korean Peace Looks Very Dim

It is not surprising that the talks have bogged down over one question: the exchange of prisoners. There have been no real discussions at Panmunjom since mid-July. The talks have not moved forward one inch since mid-July. The talks have not moved forward one inch since mid-July. The talks have not moved forward one inch since mid-July.

Why the Communists have upped their demands is not clear. It may be the result of a decision made between the Russians and the Chinese when the latter visited Moscow for important talks last summer.

When Secretary of State Acheson announced several weeks ago there would be a full-scale debate in the U. N. Assembly, after it opened next week, it was a change from the position, until then Acheson had opposed U. N. debate on Korea, on the grounds that it might interfere with the Panmunjom peace talks.

That ceased to be a reason against the U. N. debate when for the first time the Communists made a constructive proposal of their own.

The U. N. says it will not force any of its prisoners to return to China or North Korea if they don't want to go.

The Communists take the opposite position: that all prisoners should be returned on both sides. Neither side has been willing to budge.

While the talks limped on, the fighting in Korea continued. There were 15,000 Reds attacked the U. N. positions in the biggest Communist offensive since May, 1951. This has not been regarded as a setback, as the opening of a major Communist offensive is expected to drive the U. N. troops out of Korea.

Stevenson Vows to Deal With Corruption

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson promised today to deal "ruthlessly" with corruption in government if he is elected president. The Illinois governor brought his campaign into politically hot Kansas today after New Orleans recorded mixed reaction last night to his firm here from a vote taken in Illinois. He promised to "follow the same pattern of action in Washington," if he wins.

Stevenson has been touched by scandals here by an unavailing effort to clean up a national criminal syndicate and the semi-legal operators who cluster around it. He has been in the state for many days engineering his campaign, Stevenson said in a talk prepared for a party rally at Bay View.

"But I was pleased to see that you have learned the lesson I taught me in my time as governor of Illinois—that corruption will not wait for leisurely attention," he said.

His firm, one of only about two dozen in the state, always had more business than he could handle. He has designed dozens of new products, from razors and ice cream dispensers to automatic washing machines and portable refrigerators.

His warlike knowledge helped in turning out a new line of futuristic toys of tomorrow — including ray guns, interplanetary rockets, ray guns and space ships.

"It was a lot of fun," he said. "My job was to forecast in terms of toys that the 'id' of the year would be like."

"It was purely blue sky stuff — out of our own heads, as ordinary people are. I'm a designer, but it looks like the world is already taking up with our toys."

More than 15,000 people were in the crowd at the school today. The school was crowded with people. The school was crowded with people. The school was crowded with people.

Probers End Kansas City Fraud Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Judiciary subcommittee closed its probe of a Kansas City fraud case today with a final vote against Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark for using what is called "extremely poor judgment."

Communists Told U. S. May Start War With Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier told the 15th Soviet Communist Party Congress there is a real danger that the United States will launch a war against Russia. Because of this, the Soviet congress is kept in constant readiness for a war footing at a moment's notice, he said in a speech to the congress last Wednesday.

The text of his address was made public here today as party delegates on the eve of the closing of this historic congress session the Soviet Union's first in 13 years.

Only the last item on the agenda remained. This is the election of party officers, including members of the central committee's executive secretariat. Prime Minister Stalin recently likely will be re-elected.

Under the party reorganization plan already approved by the congress, a new presidium is to be chosen to carry on the work of the central committee when it is not in session.

The presidium will take over the work of the politburo and the organization bureau, both of which are to be abolished.
